SCHEDULE

9:00 am Registration
9:30 am Air Barrier Orientation
10:45 am Air Barrier Application Demonstration
12:15 pm Lunch

PROGRAM

Speaker: John Bachenski, IMI

Attendees will learn why air barriers are important to control condensation and energy consumption in exterior wall systems and why masonry contractors should install them. The class will also explain current air barrier codes, standards, testing procedures and how to achieve an airtight air barrier installation on various substrate conditions.

HANDS ON DEMONSTRATION

Led by Jonathan Holsgrove and Kelly Burke

Application methods of spray-on membrane air barriers will be shown. This will include the necessary preparation work for both masonry and dense glass back-up systems. There will also be a demonstration on how to use all the equipment needed for a successful air barrier installation.

COST

There is no cost to register. The deadline for registration is August 3, 2010. Parking is extremely limited so public transportation is advised.
